

IAS STAFF MEETING MINUTES

9 February 1973

PRESENT:

G. Allen

1. Mr. Allen reported on his trip to the Far East.

2. It was reported at the Executive Council meeting that there have been good reactions to the new DCI, James Schlesinger. He seems to be more interested in talking with the analysts than their chiefs. He also seems to be more of an activist than his predecessors.

3. Mr. Schlesinger has formed a three-man team consisting of [redacted] to figure out how the intelligence community could better support the NSC staff.

4. There will be one major change. Mr. Schlesinger thinks that there is too much anonymity on papers and he wants to see more names to see who actually did what. He also thinks there may be duplication in the collection field.
